MEDICINAL.
CURES OTHERS.
To build up both solid flesh and strength after grip, pneumonia, fevers and other prostrating diseases, there is nothing equal Dr. Farrow's Golden Medical Discovery.

PROSTRATION FOLLOWING GRIP.
Mrs. REUBEN GARRETT, King George Co., Va., writes: "I was taken with grip which finally resulted in pneumonia. Was prostrated for three months. Had a terrible cough and was emaciated and very weak. Was fast drifting into 'quick consumption.' The doctor gave me medicines all the time. I grew weaker. He advised cod liver oil emulsion. I took two bottles of it without any relief. I had pain in my left shoulder and back. I wrote you about your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took only one bottle before I felt better. After two bottles I could sit up and felt I had been saved from the grave. Increased rapidly in flesh and strength."

SEARCY IN THE PENITENTIARY.

Searcy, the Aquia Creek train robber, is now in the penitentiary. He came in this morning from Fredericksburg and by another coincidence he, as well as Morganfield, traveled to the penitentiary with Captain Birdsong, the conductor who was in charge of the train when the robbery was committed. The same porter was also aboard this morning, but the engineer was different. Searcy and Captain Birdsong had a chat about the robbery and the conductor still insisted that there were more than two robbers present when the train was held up.

A State man went to the penitentiary this morning and through the courtesy of Superintendent Lynn had a chat with Searcy. Assistant Superintendent Wm. T. White did the honors of the occasion and presented the reporter to the prisoner. Searcy was found in one of the reception cells and was confined with Modlin, the new prisoner from Danville who had just been sent for will-murder. Modlin was too busy reading his Bible to pay any attention to the interview.

Searcy was clean-shaven and was proud of the fact that he had anticipated the action of the prison authorities in this little matter. He laughed heartily at Captain White for having "gotten ahead of him" in removing his moustaches. He was solicitous to know if he would be permitted to attend Sunday school, and when asked if he belonged to the church said with dignity that he still belonged to the church—"that is," he added, "I did belong to it before this affair." He then explained that he was baptized five years ago at Cleburne, Texas, by Rev. A. M. Sims, pastor of the Baptist church of that place, who is a native of Virginia, and that he would renew his connection with the church at the first opportunity.

Questioned as to the sensational statement he had recently threatened to make, he replied that he had thought better of it and would not make a statement at this time. If at all he explained that there were other train robberies back of this and to give anything away now might be to defeat the ends of justice. He knew the robbers and had given names to some of the detectives. He insisted, however, that he and Morganfield were the only men directly engaged in the Aquia Creek robbery, though other men knew of it and at least two of them would have gotten part of the swag, if he and his companion had escaped. He insists, too, that Morganfield robbed him after they had robbed the train and that the money in dispute at Cincinnati is a part of the Aquia Creek haul and that he could identify at least two of the bills, if he could see the pile.

He says that Morganfield's real name is Spear or Spier and that he was raised near Glasgow, Ky., and educated at Bowling Green. That his father is a minister of the Disciples church and stands well. That two of his brothers live in Texas, one of them being a teacher in the High School at Austin.

Searcy was next asked if he had petitioned the governor for pardon. He replied that he had not done so and did not know that he should. No promises were made to him by the authorities, he said, and his confession was his own affair. Naturally, he added, he expected that clemency would be shown him by reason of his confession, but that was all. "But there are other robberies back of this," he said significantly, "and if I am turned out, I expect to act exactly right."

In winding up his talk he told an interesting story of an attack which Morganfield had made on his life. It was when they were confined in jail at Fredericksburg. He was up stairs and Morganfield down stairs. The guard left Morganfield's cell open and the prisoner seized a large padlock and said that he was going up stairs to kill Searcy. Somebody told Searcy about it and he took out of his bed a heavy sash, "and for the first time in my life," he said, "I made up my mind to kill a man." Morganfield started up the stairs and I warned him that if he came to my cell he would never go the penitentiary, as I should kill him. He then went back.

"How did Morganfield go up the steps without his crutches?" asked Captain White.

"I don't know about that," said Searcy in some confusion.

Searcy will probably be assigned to the shoe department—Richmond State of yesterday.

Don't feel well

Why?

Oh! I don't know. Worry I expect.

Worrying about what?

Well, you know the servants are a heap of trouble.

The children worry me a heap.

I am broken down.

In the morning I generally have a headache;

Along towards evening my back feels as if it would break.

Every time the baby cries I nearly jump out of my skin, I am so nervous.

Your system needs toning up.

Why not take Brown's Iron Bitters, the best strengthening medicine made. It will give you a good appetite, make your blood rich and pure, give you strength, make life a pleasure. Not only take it yourself, but give it to the children.

It is pleasant to take. Small dose.

The only iron medicine that don't blacken the teeth. But get the genuine—it has crossed red lines on wrapper.
